MISSION

The Idaho State Police is committed to serving and protecting the lives, property, and constitutional rights of people in Idaho.

STRATEGIC GOALS

- Protect the lives, rights, and property of the people in Idaho.
- Be prudent stewards of agency resources on behalf of the taxpayers of Idaho.

- Create openness and transparency between employees and the citizens we serve.

AGENCY OVERVIEW

Founded in 1919 as the Bureau of Constabulary, the Idaho State Police continues to serve as Idaho's statewide law enforcement agency, providing public safety services through fair and professional policing. More than 700 sworn and professional employees work together to support communities across the state through enforcement, investigation, forensic science, communications, and specialized technical expertise.

ISP troopers, strategically positioned across Idaho's highways and communities, are responsible for enforcing state laws, investigating crime, and responding to emergencies. Their work, which includes patrolling, conducting traffic stops, and investigating crashes, is focused on protecting lives, maintaining public order, and ensuring the safety of Idaho's residents and visitors.

Behind the scenes, our professional staff play a crucial role in strengthening every part of our operation. From forensic scientists who process evidence in modern crime labs to dispatchers who manage emergency communications, these skilled professionals ensure that critical services are delivered efficiently and accurately, instilling confidence in our capabilities.

ISP is committed to adapting to Idaho's changing needs. The agency continues to invest in technology, training, and strategies to address serious threats such as fentanyl trafficking, human trafficking, and violent crime. Through initiatives like Esto Perpetua, ISP works to reduce the impact of dangerous drugs and keep communities safe.

As Idaho grows, so does the responsibility to safeguard it. ISP remains focused on its mission: to provide safety and security through professional service, strong partnerships, and public trust.

REVENUE & EXPENDITURES

Idaho State Police receives revenue from the General Fund, dedicated funds and federal funds. Generally, revenue collection for dedicated funds is built into user fees or taxes that finance a specific service or project—for example, fingerprint fees. General funds are collected from taxes and fees imposed by the state, such as individual income and corporate tax, whereas federal funds include allocations for specific programs for a specific purpose. Federal funds are often passed through other state and local governments for criminal justice activities.

LOOKING FORWARD ## TO GOVERNOR LITTLE AND THE CITIZENS OF IDAHO.

The Idaho State Police has proudly served the people of Idaho since 1919. From the very beginning, our mission centered on public safety. That mission guides everything we do: protecting lives, upholding the law, and serving communities with integrity, courage, and professionalism. While the landscape of public safety has evolved, our purpose has never changed.

Our work reaches every corner of the state. Whether keeping highways safe, investigating complex criminal activity, or supporting communities during critical incidents, ISP stands ready. We do this in partnership with local, state, and federal agencies, and most importantly, with the people of Idaho. Public safety depends on trust, and we work every day to earn and keep that trust.

At the direction of Governor Brad Little, ISP is leading a focused, statewide effort to confront the most serious threats to Idaho's safety. This includes stopping the flow of fentanyl, fighting human trafficking, and removing criminal illegal aliens from our communities. These issues are real dangers and demand relentless focus. ISP is taking decisive action by disrupting criminal networks, protecting victims, and working side by side with our partners to deliver real results for Idaho families.

Our greatest strength is our people. Every member of ISP plays a role in this mission, bringing their skill, dedication, and commitment to serving the people of Idaho. Their work reflects the best of who we are as an agency and as a state.

Public safety isn't just our history, it's our future. It's the standard we hold ourselves to, the promise we make to every Idahoan, and the driving force behind every decision we make. ISP will continue to innovate and lead with purpose, ensuring Idaho remains a place where integrity, professionalism, and dedication are more than just words—they're how we serve.
