

Idaho State Police

Report to our Citizens

FISCAL YEAR 2013: JULY 1, 2012 - JUNE 30, 2013

Our Mission

Providing public safety across the State of Idaho through law enforcement excellence

Serving Since 1939!

Our Agency

The Idaho State Police (ISP) has a proud history of providing law enforcement services to Idahoans and those visiting our beautiful state since the Idaho State Police Act was signed into law in 1939. While you may be familiar with the sight of the “black and whites” patrolling the interstates and highways, there is much more to ISP’s ability to protect your family and property.

Our agency has six district offices throughout Idaho that consist of Patrol, Investigations, Commercial Vehicle Safety, Alcohol Beverage Control, Brand Inspection and two Regional Communications Centers. Headquartered in Meridian, ISP also provides several services that support all law enforcement agencies in Idaho including Planning, Grants and Research and the Bureau of Criminal Identification. The Bureau acts as the state’s central repository for criminal history records, fingerprints, crime statistics and the Idaho Sex Offender Registry. The Bureau also provides access to the statewide Public Safety and Security Information System, known as ILETS, the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) and the Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS) for Idaho law enforcement entities.

Our three Forensics Services laboratories provide direct support to Idaho’s criminal justice community through crime scene evidence collection and analysis. These laboratories, which are located in Coeur d’Alene, Meridian and Pocatello, analyze evidence for every law enforcement agency in the state.

The Idaho Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST), is a division of ISP with oversight by the POST Council. POST provides basic training academies for all of Idaho’s peace officers, corrections, detention, probation and parole officers and public safety dispatchers. The Idaho Criminal Intelligence Center, our state’s designated Fusion Center, is also hosted and overseen by ISP. Lastly, ISP provides oversight to the Idaho State Racing Commission that regulates and licenses horseracing.

Message From Our Colonel

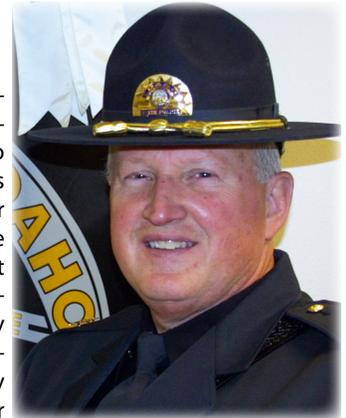

I am proud to be part of the Idaho State Police as we celebrate 75 years of service to you, our citizens. In the coming year we will not only celebrate the successes of our agency, but also the partnerships that have developed within the communities we serve. Our partners include city, county, federal and other state law enforcement agencies. These partnerships allow us to collaborate and combine our resources to achieve common objectives in preventing crime, responding to crises and protecting the lives of our citizens by keeping the peace.

One of the programs that capitalizes on partnerships and that we are most proud of is our residency program. ISP currently has 23 positions for resident troopers in the most remote parts of Idaho. These troopers live and work closely with members of their community and local law enforcement partners day in and day out to solve problems and address the law enforcement needs of that individual community. This may include educating teens on safe driving, assisting with crowd control at festivals or fairs, developing information on drug trafficking, showing off a patrol car to a Cub Scout pack or patrolling the highway and enforcing traffic laws.

The relationships developed by our resident troopers in their communities have proven vital in times of crisis. It was the trust between our resident trooper and a retired sheriff in Emmett that ended in the rescue of a teenage girl who was kidnapped from California and brought to the Idaho wilderness after her mother and brother were both murdered. It was our relationship with the Valley County Sheriff’s Office that seamlessly brought to bear over 28 troopers in a few short hours to successfully search alongside sheriff’s deputies and Idaho Fish and Game officers for the fugitive and victim in the most rugged and remote terrain of our state. None of it could have been done without the relationships that are fostered between ISP and our public safety partners. No agency can do it alone.

While many changes have occurred over the 75 year history of the Idaho State Police, the one area that has not changed is our commitment to keep you and your family safe at home, at school, on the road or wherever you happen to be. You can partner with us to achieve this goal by staying alert to your surroundings, driving responsibly, and always buckling your seatbelt!

Colonel Ralph W. Powell

Goals and Progress

ABCs of Alcohol Beverage Control

After the repeal of Prohibition, the control and temperance of alcoholic beverages was the beginning of the Alcohol Beverage Control (ABC) division of the Idaho State Police. ABC is responsible for enforcement of Idaho's liquor act, which includes the licensing and regulation of over 5,000 licenses to sell liquor by the drink, or beer and wine in the state. Idaho is what is known as a "control state" meaning that ABC also licenses those that produce controlled beverages including brewers, wine makers, and importers in Idaho, as well as wholesale distributors that sell to retailers in the state. The responsibilities of ABC in alcohol enforcement are vast and until the past year, the duties were performed by just two detectives for the entire state.

In 2012, the Idaho Legislature provided funding from alcohol license fees to increase the ABC staff to include 10 additional enforcement positions (eight detectives and two sergeants) and one additional administrative assistant with oversight by a lieutenant. These detectives have a goal of making face-to-face visits with every single licensee in the state within the next calendar year. Many licensees have not had a chance to interact with ABC in person for as many as 10 years. The goal is to educate the licensees and their staff on the laws that pertain to their establishments. ABC also strives to support them in their endeavors to comply with license requirements and curtail underage drinking and over service. The detectives work closely with local law enforcement agencies on enforcement operations. They also train civic and advocacy groups in an effort to reduce the ills of society that are associated with alcohol such as drinking and driving.

associated with alcohol such as drinking and driving.

In the past 8 months, ABC has completed approximately 1,000 licensee visits or 20% of their goal and has provided 15 training sessions throughout different parts of Idaho. ABC is also charged with ensuring compliance by licensees with Idaho's gaming statutes, certain prohibited acts and conducting compliance operations to Enforce Underage Drinking Laws (EUDL). These operations are conducted randomly throughout the state in an effort to achieve a 100% compliance rate of alcohol licensees not selling alcohol to persons under 21 years-old. In 2012, there was approximately an 83% compliance rate by Idaho alcohol licensees.

Investigating in Idaho

Often working unnoticed behind the scenes and in plain clothes, the detectives in our Investigations division are not as recognizable as our troopers, but they are just as vital to our agency. These hard working men and women conduct a variety of criminal investigations that include homicide, sexual assault, computer crimes such as child pornography, murder-for-hire and conflict investigations for other agencies. Additionally, as mandated by Idaho statute, our investigators' main emphasis is investigating upper level drug trafficking organizations operating within Idaho. Oftentimes these crimes include racketeering and money laundering. These types of investigations may take months or even years to complete due to their complexity. Prosecution of these crimes takes place in both state and federal courts, and often cross state lines and international borders into Mexico and Canada.

ISP currently has 54 investigators situated throughout its six district offices which are located in Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Meridian, Jerome, Pocatello and Idaho Falls. The detectives attempt to maintain a case load of 60% "self-initiated" cases to 40% "agency assist" cases. By striving to maintain this ratio, ISP attempts to measure its ability to be proactive in detecting and dismantling drug operations against the reactive demand of working investigations of crimes already committed.

According to the 2012 Investigations Personnel Allocation Measurement Study conducted for ISP, the number of detectives for a state with the population size of Idaho, and to maintain current case load statistics, ISP needs, at minimum, 14 additional detective positions. With the important work that ISP Investigations provides to our citizens, we are continually looking for ways to increase the size of our investigations staff in order to account for the increase in workload in assisting other agencies and to prevent the further proliferation of illicit drugs into our communities.

The Idaho State Police receives the majority of its revenue from dedicated funding sources. These sources come from user fees or taxes that are collected to finance a specific service or project. Examples of dedicated funds for ISP are fuel tax and monies collected from vehicle registrations.

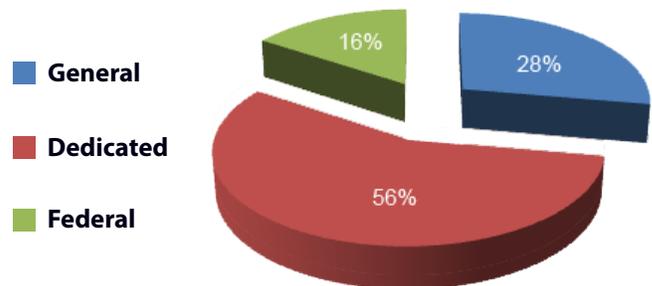

General funds are monies collected from taxes and fees imposed by the state such as individual and corporate income tax, product and sales tax. These are the main sources of funds for many state agencies and services.

Federal funds received by ISP include those used directly for our programs, or passed through to other state and local units of government for criminal justice activities.

Our K-9 Program and Drug Interdiction Teams

The value of a detection dog with a trooper cannot be overlooked when searching for illicit drugs that are continuously being trafficked across Idaho. The vast number of high value drug seizures that have been detected by ISP in partnership with city and county K-9 officers in the past few years is the impetus for ISP's expansion of its own K-9 program.

"Bingo", a Labrador and Golden Retriever mix, was added to our force in 2013 as a drug detection dog and as part of ISP's drug interdiction team. The program was funded with grants from the Northwest High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas (HIDTA) Program through the Office of National Drug Control Policy (ONDCP).

In January 2014, ISP will send three more troopers and K-9s to an eight-week school to be trained and certified as passive alert detection dogs. Certification includes standards for detection dogs to obey basic control commands that most well-behaved dogs should obey, such as "sit" and "stay", but they must also be able to find drugs in residential and commercial buildings, vehicles, containers and exterior open areas. To be certified, the drug canines are required to detect marijuana, cocaine, methamphetamine, heroin and opiate derivatives. The troopers assigned as handlers will live and care for their four-legged partners twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week.

In addition to Bingo in District 4, the troopers and K-9s will be assigned to District 1 in Coeur d'Alene, District 3 in Meridian and District 6 in Idaho Falls. The interstate corridors in these areas have been increasingly used by major narcotics trafficking organizations to get their product from Mexico to locations throughout the U.S. and Canada. Additionally, with marijuana becoming legal in surrounding states, there have been escalating amounts of marijuana crossing into Idaho on its way to the Midwest and beyond.

We believe that we can help stem the tide of illegal drugs flowing into our communities by being innovative in our approach to interdiction.

Beyond the First 75 Years

Idaho Criminal Intelligence Center's Role in Combating Crime and Terrorism

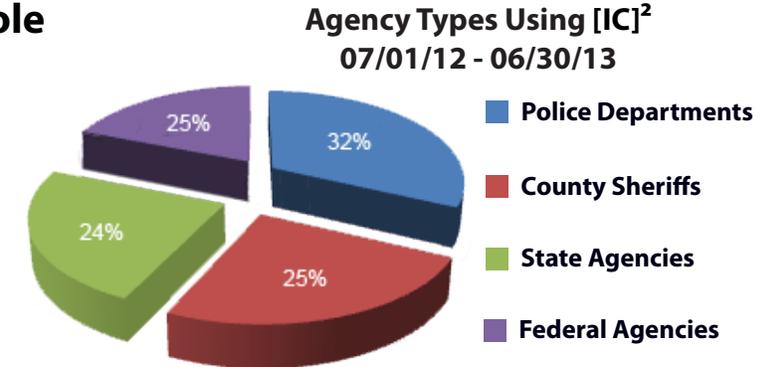

The Idaho Criminal Intelligence Center [IC]² is Idaho's designated Fusion Center. [IC]² is responsible for integrating, analyzing, producing and disseminating actionable criminal intelligence in combating criminal activity and terrorism through an all crimes approach. Idaho's [IC]² provides a variety of services to local, state and federal law enforcement including Idaho's Drug Tip Hotline, case de-confliction and watch center, threat assessments, suspicious activity reports, timelines, flowcharts and maps of criminal activities, phone toll analysis, narcotics intelligence, photo line-ups, general case support and training for over 200 fusion center liaison officers.

Beyond serving as a focal point for criminal case work, the [IC]² provides a state and local context to help enhance the national threat picture. The federal government relies on critical state and local information it receives from fusion centers like Idaho's. The continual integration of the information received creates a national capacity to gather, process, analyze, and share intelligence in support of efforts to protect the country.

The [IC]² is the result of the collaborative efforts of federal, state and local agencies and began operations in 2009. The members that provide support for the Fusion Center include the Idaho Bureau of Homeland Security, the Idaho National Guard, the Idaho Department of Corrections, the Idaho Attorney General's Office, the Ada and Canyon County Sheriff's Offices and the Boise, Coeur d'Alene, Nampa and Pocatello Police Departments, Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

ISP is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the Center and a multi-jurisdictional board is responsible for governance. [IC]² has historically been funded by federal grant dollars through the Bureau of Homeland Security (BHS) with the exception of the personnel provided by partner agencies. The services provided to Idaho's 44 county sheriff's offices and over 80 city and tribal police departments are free of charge. During the FY2012, [IC]² responded to over 4,000 requests from agencies ranging from criminal case support and de-confliction to intelligence and officer safety bulletins and training.

IC² Fusion Team

A recent example of the work provided by the analysts in the [IC]² was demonstrated during the Amber Alert for San Diego kidnapping victim Hannah Anderson whose abductor took her over 1,200 miles to the Frank Church River of No Return Wilderness Area in Valley County. During the three days after it was reported to ISP and the [IC]² that the suspect and victim had been spotted in the wilderness, the [IC]² began 24 hour operations to vet all the tips and leads received on the case in Idaho and coordinate the information with investigators in California and law enforcement on the ground and in the air in Idaho. The resourcefulness of the analysts and their ability to collaborate with partner agencies led to the quick rescue of the victim.

[IC]² is committed to maintaining the civil rights, liberties and privacy of our citizens. The Center abides by a comprehensive privacy policy consistent with the U.S. Constitution, the Idaho Constitution and all federal and state statutes governing the collection and dissemination of criminal intelligence.

Celebrating Our Past

It has been a journey ranging from barely-functioning motor vehicles and hardly-there roads to high-tech computer systems and biotechnology. Some of what the Idaho State Police does emerges in newspaper headlines and local television news reports, but only pieces of it, as glimpses of the larger story. Without Compromise tells the story of what lies behind those headlines, and of the remarkable men and women involved.

Without Compromise was written by author Kelly Kast in celebration of the 75th Anniversary of ISP and is available by visiting our website at www.isp.idaho.gov.
